A guide to using Discover More to find content as you start your studies.

The Discover More search panel

Discover More contains the content of our eResources and the library catalogue. Access Advanced Search for a full and extensive search of all Edge Hill's resources.

A Find everything search will locate content from across most of our online collections and print stock. It will find full text journal articles and eBooks; print books with your keywords in the title and/or subject fields; and print journal titles.

A search using Find full text journal articles will limit your search to peer reviewed, full text journal articles from within the 61,000 electronic journals we subscribe to.

A search using Find eJournal titles via A- Z will help you find a specific eJournal. The A-Z is the complete list of all the electronic journal titles we subscribe to.

Tips for 'Everything' search in Discover More

- Spend some time thinking about the keywords in your assignment.
- Think about acronyms or abbreviations.
- You can also search for people, places, organisations, charities.
- Think about the subject more broadly e.g. obesity, over-weight, BMI, calories.
- Remember we have excluded Newspapers and Book Reviews - if you want these click to see them.
- Remember if you want to find an electronic journal title use the A-Z. They are not part of a 'Find Everything' search.
