

Action for Refugees Conference
Thursday 6th July, 9.00am - 4.00pm
FREE

06.07.17
Thursday

Creative Edge

9.00am

Registration and Refreshments

4.00pm

Conference Close

4.15pm

Film Screening

722 TMX Engineer battalion

A film by Yiannis Koufonikos

Book your FREE place at:

edgehill.ac.uk/i4p/events

Action for Refugees Conference

We are delighted to invite you to this important, free, one day event organised by staff and students in the Faculty of Education at Edge Hill University.

The conference will provide an opportunity for delegates to increase their knowledge and understanding of the refugee crisis.

A unique element of the event will be a live link to a refugee camp in the town of Alexandria, Northern Greece.

Delegates will be able to learn first-hand regarding:

- Relevant research undertaken by academic colleagues.
- The work being done by agencies working with refugees.
- Practical support provided by staff and students to refugees and those working in response to the crisis.

Workshops will support staff and students of the Faculty of Education to better able to meet the learning requirements of refugee learners.

The overall aim of the conference is to provide a multi-faceted, positive, response to the refugee crisis that results in a greater understanding of and practical support for those involved.

Film Screening 722 TMX Engineer battalion

A film by Yiannis Koufonikos

722 TMX, Engineer Battalion documents the struggle of thousands of refugees from Syria, stuck in Greece following the European Union's decision to close their borders. Narrated by Christy Kelly, an English student, the film is set in a refugee camp in Alexandria in Northern Greece. The people of Alexandria opened up their small town to displaced migrants hoping to seek asylum in Europe, escaping the unimaginable horrors back home in Syria.

I4P

Institute for Public Policy and Professional Practice

facebook.com/EHUevents