

Information for new starters

On behalf of Library & Learning Services we would like to welcome you to Edge Hill University. Library & Learning Services incorporates a number of different teams, providing academic skills to Learning Technology support. Learn more about how each team can support you in your new role.

The Academic Engagement Team work closely with colleagues throughout the University to strengthen the relationships between academic staff and Library & Learning Services. We will be able to provide advice, information and support across the full range of services we provide, including:

- Information/learning resources – print and digital
- Library services
- Specialist support for students with SpLD
- UniSkills – digital/information literacy and academic writing
- Learning technologies – Blackboard, lecture capture (Panopto)
- Supporting you with your staff development in terms of digital skills and research

Wiki pages

The Learning Technology Development Team support the use of the suite of tools known as Learning Edge and aim to develop the effective use of technology for teaching and learning. Your Learning Technologist can work with you to get the most out of Learning Edge and identify ways in which technology can support and enhance your teaching.

Wiki pages

ltdsupport@edgehill.ac.uk

The Student Engagement Team can work with you to deliver embedded academic skills within your curriculum or students can access support through our UniSkills workshops, 1:1 appointment service and via our online toolkits.

Web pages

UniSkills@edgehill.ac.uk

Information for new starters

Our dedicated Research Support Team can provide support with developing digital and information literacy skills, Open Access, REF compliance and depositing in the Edge Hill Research Archive.

Web pages

The SpLD team provides one to one specialist support for students with specific learning difficulties, and can also provide staff with guidance on assistive technologies and inclusive practice.

Web pages

spld@edgehill.ac.uk

My Staff Development
PROGRAMME 2019/20

The My Staff Development offer is a collaborative initiative between Human Resources and Library & Learning Services. This new combined offer aims to ensure that your learning is easy to navigate and in one central place.

Depending on your job role and personal interests, you can choose to explore numerous pathways to further support your development. These pathways have been specifically designed to allow you to enhance your knowledge in that area in more depth, encouraging you to complete the sessions offered and utilise the online guides and resources available.

Wiki pages

