

Exam Preparation – Transcript: Student Advisor Tips: Taking University Exams for the First Time (audio note)

“I would tell them that everyone is going through the exact same thing that they are, tutors are very happy to help you, and they really want to you to succeed. I would tell them not to be embarrassed to go to the helpdesk with any small questions, and to get [advice] with a support advisor as soon as you can (if they need it). I would have probably utilised more library resources, if I had investigated these different toolkits and things sooner. Going through different toolkits to review, has made me realise just how much I would have appreciated them as a first year.”
